10	Good Food	Feb 26, 2012 5:02 P
11	I would prefer whole foods, locally/sustainably grown, low impact foods. In particular, I want to consume food that is good for the human body.	Feb 26, 2012 12:15 A
12	Locally-grown meals!!!!	Feb 25, 2012 6:01 P
13	Healthy food soups with less salt, less processed food/meats. More organic options. More Asian/ethnic food options.	Feb 25, 2012 3:52 P
14	burritos, sandwiches without dairy, vegetarian selections, soups, non-dairy items, fresh items, not old or wilted. Non-greasy sandwiches	Feb 25, 2012 12:29 F
15	Sushi, Salad rolls, Local produce, organically-farmed alternatives with less packaging (cafeteria does this well with washables)	Feb 25, 2012 11:39 A
16	The truth of it is, I am sure there are great items in the cafeteria, however, the display of what is there IS VERY UNAPPETIZING.	Feb 24, 2012 1:16 P
17	Rice bowl bar and more fruit	Feb 24, 2012 7:47 A
18	More variety of healthy food	Feb 23, 2012 9:06 P

I have not experienced the food items enough to really comment on them. The all-staff meetings and other catered events are the most I have seen/eaten of the food. At the food tasted good and had at least a couple very healthy options. I also appreciate the durable serving ware that was provided for these events versus disposable items. 83 The food is warm. Portions are plentiful. There is considerable variety on the menu with a rotating set of specials. Some of the specials are excellent. While I might not prefer some specials, that is a matter of my taste preferences, not of quality. Pizza is delicious. Owners do their best to keep prices at a level that is affordable for students and staff. The price is reasonable for most items. The staff is friendly, helpful, and quick. Owners try out new dishes regularly in an attempt to expand the menu even farther, however, if it doesn't sell well because patrons don't want to try something new, the item can't be offered only to go to waste. 84 The service Feb 2, 2012 10:09 AM 85 It's on campus. 86 That it is available on site. 87 I have really gotten away from eating on campus. 11	Dave's food always tastes fairly good, and they're willing to make you whatever you want, to order. But, the food offerings are generally unhealthy, and Dave's staff range from lackadasical to downright rude. They don't pay attention to detail, so if I can't get Dave himself or Nathan to make me something, I have to resign myself to having something that isn't the way I asked for it, is burnt (especially toast/bagels), or tastes very unappealing. The one thing they always do very well is the pizza.	Feb 1, 2012 4:37 P

79	For HR-ICC, there needs to be more on-campus options for students it seems. The vending machines do not provide any healthy options for students who may be on campus for a whole day and/or evening. I would also recommend installing a dishwasher and sink at HR-ICC so we can use durable serving ware at events and wash them afterwards on campus. For both campuses, it would be great to see composting systems set up for everyone to use. And, working with local farmers (Gorge Grown network) on purchasing local food would be fantastic!	Feb 2, 2012 10:30 A
80	Move away from cafeteria/family style food to more bistro style food and atmosphere. Feature locally grown food each month creating menus around items in season (i.e. pears, apples), eliminate the use of disposables for all catering and change to go packaging to compostables	Feb 2, 2012 10:30 A
81	I would like to see the counter/delivery set-up revised or updated. The lines become confusing and competitive at times resulting in service going to the aggressive and sly. This is not the fault of the staff but rather the two cash register, no direction system in place. I would also like to see the salad bar rebuilt in such a way that I don't have to go behind the counter to access both sides. It would be great if it could be expanded into a salad and taco bar. If possible, some fresh baked rolls on the salad bar. More grapes, pineapple, strawberries, kiwi, apple and less melon, especially honeydew. Make sure the lettuce and tomatoes are fresh. Use organic lettuce varieties from Zion Farms in season. Shop locally when season permits for all produce.	Feb 2, 2012 10:27 A

86	I do not like the counter thing, standing around waiting, just do not like that set up.	Feb 2, 2012 9:03 A
87	Recommend wiping the tables and chairs more often. Offer full meal pricing for combination orders of an entree, beverage, chips/fries. Do not serve re-heated left-overs. Re-design food counterMove cashier station away from food line & salad bar. Customers could order food & pick up food/drinks from the counter area, then pay for items at end of soft drink island (or a separate kiosk). Don't allow servers to handle money and food! Servers should wear gloves.	Feb 2, 2012 8:58 A

89	lower the prices, but I know Dave is independently contracted so you probably don't have much control over that.	Feb 2, 2012 7:52 AM
90	More affordable for struggling college students and improved service.	Feb 2, 2012 7:44 AM
91	just keep making interesting changes. i now eat raw food properly prepared on a regular basis. i am not the same person i was 20 years ago.	Feb 1, 2012 9:40 PM
92	The staff does a great job; no suggestions.	Feb 1, 2012 8:46 PM
93	1. Once in a while having a dish du jour (ethnic food) to promote cultural awareness if affordable, 2. Once in a while, it would be nice to feature a local farmer who grew some food for us 3. Invite local farmers as guest speakers in the cafeteria for students and faculty. Have a mini-farmer's market. That would strengthen partnerships with CGCC and understand how our food is. Once we get to know local people who provide food for us and how long it would take them to grow them, people are more likely to support dining services and local businesses. 4. Have a new recipe contest for students and give him/her a prize. 5. This doesn't directly involve the dining services; however, it may get students interested in how to run a food industry or prepare nutritious and affordable meals in a nursing home, etc if faculty gives students specific and applicable problems related to food in class. In short, make the dining services part of their learning and innovation.	Feb 1, 2012 8:30 PM
94	I think that there is a real missed opportunity with the current cafe. They are sitting on a potential gold mine of customers but their service is terrible, the employees look dirty, they are rude to each other and to customers. It takes too long to get the order ready. In general it is a dining experience to avoid.	Feb 1, 2012 7:31 PM
95	(1) This I feel strongly about: there is no coffee vending machine in Building 3 on TD campus, and none at the Hood River campus. Getting a decent cup of cofee, even from a vending machine, should be a priority. (2) The (cheaper) "house coffee in the Class Act Cafe is really bad stuff, and the more expensive stuff in the hot pots is usually luke warm at bestand weak.	Feb 1, 2012 6:13 PM
96	I would get rid of the sodas options and use the space for additional choice of healthy food. I would a better variety of healthy dishes, with no corporate logos on cups, plates or menu. I would assure ingredients are purchased from as local suppliers as possible. I would also like to improve the customer service.	Feb 1, 2012 5:34 PM
97	More whole grains, healthy options.	Feb 1, 2012 5:11 PM
98	Less bickering between staff, serve freash not browning or old veggies, and much better personal interactions	Feb 1, 2012 5:08 PM
99	The specials board is confusing (e.g. tough to read, awkward to look your back to the register) and it's not always clear to me what, if anything, comes with a given meal.	Feb 1, 2012 5:01 PM
100	Offer a couple really good healthy meals a week. Coffee shop would be a major plus.	Feb 1, 2012 5:00 PM
101	a more inviting environment.	Feb 1, 2012 4:59 PM

102	More up-to-date fresh food choicesnot so much heavy "comfort food" more fresh salads, soups, sandwiches, wraps. Visit most any college these days and you will see what I mean we are sorely behind the times and are not modeling healthy choices or sustainable practices. In my wildest hope, I think it would be great for our dining services to become a educational opportunity for our students i.e. we could offer a certificate or degree in food service management/culinary arts and have a student-run cafe. Why not? Hospitality is an area of growth in our region	Feb 1, 2012 4:59 PM
103	More ready-to-go salads with interesting ingredients (mushrooms, goat cheese, sun-dried tomatoes, cucumbers, wlanuts, cranberries, etc.)	Feb 1, 2012 4:56 PM
104	More healthy choices; grilled vegetables; not boiled Limit use of microwave; more fresh	Feb 1, 2012 4:46 PM
105	Menu layout.	Feb 1, 2012 4:44 PM
106	Better prices	Feb 1, 2012 4:42 PM
107	Friendly customer service. Less expensive. Healthier foods.	Feb 1, 2012 4:38 PM
108	Better food, increase confidence about food safety, better coffee, better tea	Feb 1, 2012 4:38 PM
109	Offer more healthy options than just the build-your-own salad bar. Expand the salad bar to include better and more options, and add a hot food bar.	Feb 1, 2012 4:37 PM
110	A healthier menu to begin with. Low fat, sodium, etc. A healthy salad bar would be great. Maybe get Dave some healthy, cost effective menu options.	Feb 1, 2012 4:36 PM
111	Improved menu system, perhaps? It's kinda hard to read and find what I'm looking for on the current one that's on the wall behind the counter.	Feb 1, 2012 4:33 PM
112	more fresh fruits and vegetables	Feb 1, 2012 4:32 PM
